CHAP. 302.—An Act To extend the time for the refunding of certain legacy taxes erroneously collected.

Legacy taxes, Revenue Act of 1898.
Time extended for presenting claims for erroneously collected.
Vol. 30, p. 464.
Vol. 37, p. 240.

Consideration, etc., of claims by Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Proviso.
No interest allowed.

Payment of amounts allowed.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That claims for the refunding of any legacy taxes erroneously or illegally assessed or collected under the provisions of section 29 of the Act of Congress approved June 13, 1898 (Thirty-seventh Statutes at Large, page 240), may be presented to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue not later than six months after the passage of this Act; and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue is hereby authorized and directed to receive, consider, and determine, in accordance with law but without regard to any statute of limitations, such claims as may have been presented heretofore and not allowed and such claims as may be presented within the period above named, where and when and only when it be found and determined that such taxes were collected upon the erroneous interpretation of the law passed upon and condemned by the United States Supreme Court in decisions rendered in the case of United States against Jones, administrator, and in the case of McCoach, collector, against Pratt, both reported in the Two hundred and thirty-sixth United States Reports: Provided, That no interest shall be allowed on any of these claims.

SEC. 2. That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized and directed to pay, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to such claimants as have presented or shall hereafter so present their claims, any amounts allowed in the determination of any claims so defined and which shall have been presented in accordance with this Act.

Approved, March 30, 1928.
